Breakfast in a basket

Every morning we place breakfast in front of the door in a basket with a lid. We tried to put together a rather healthy offer with vegetable, fruit, juices, fresh baked goods, premium quality salami and ham. We also thought of our gluten- and lactose-sensitive guests, a special menu is available upon request. The breakfast basket includes local specialties prepared by the Károlyi Market in the village. The jams, sandwich creams and baked goods in the basket are an integral part of the local gastronomy.

In the small kitchen in the apartment, you can prepare sandwiches for your daytrips, scrambled eggs for breakfast if you prefer, coffee and tea. It's perfect for making small meals during your vacation or if you don't want to go to a restaurant each day.

Culinary experiences in the area

The film „The Glass Tiger”, directed by Péter Rudolf and Iván Kapitány, was presented in 2001 and was an immediate success.

The Glass Tiger is not based on a meticulously crafted story, but on a strong atmosphere with a distinctive sense of life. The figure of a skillful man who tries to survive the conditions of Eastern Europe has had a long tradition in the film production of the region.

In the second half of the 1990s, Emir Kusturica’s comedies in the Balkans were a major international success and were hugely popular in our country as well. Following this trail, the Glass Tiger showcases the peculiar search for happiness of the Eastern European little man with a bittersweet glaze.

The Glass Tiger Buffet reflects the atmosphere of a successful film in terms of both its offerings and its design.
