

Růžová Hora by cable car, through the Herní krajina and hike back to Pec

🕒 4 hours — 10 km

Ride the cable car to Růžová hora from Pec, then head towards Děčínská boudu, which is the highest located dairy farm with original refreshments, until you reach Herní krajíně Pecka. It's worth stopping there and resting. It's a beautiful place and a large natural children's park where there is no entrance fee. After regaining your strength, you can continue on asphalt road towards Jana's chalet and further until you reach Pec. It's a less frequented route.

Chapel in Obří Důl and back

🕒 2 hours — 7 km

A gentle route through the Obří Důl along the Úpa River. Route goes around the bobsleigh track and ropeway park at the beginning. Then you can turn off the busy asphalt road slightly to the left and walk to the bottom station of the cable car where are series of playful elements along the road. There is a large children's playground at the bottom station of the Sněžka cable car. Continue along the river, around the Bouda V Obřím Dole, where it is worth slowing down, around the Bouda Pod Sněžkou, where are llamas in a pen all the way up to the Chapel.
